

DST Innovation Lab 2014

Open Space Sessions (Updated Tuesday, July 22) Changes in Red

DAY	TITLE	PRESENTER
TUESDAY	Thinking Big Conversation (See Open Letter)	Heidi & Guy Burgess
	Leadership Competencies	Nick Redding
	Narratives & Complexity	Claudia Cohen
	Measuring Transformational Change Using: Set Theory / Qualitative Data - Constructs	Barbara Befani
	Urban Violence (projects follow up)	Beth Fisher-Yoshida
WEDNESDAY	Context of the work in Hawaii	Aubrey
	Outcome Harvesting	Ricardo Wilson-Grau
	Narrative Resonance: Power of Why #1	Jay Rothman
	Post 2015 Development Agenda	Richard Smith
	Education – How do we teach systems concepts?	Chris Straw/ Tjip Walker
	Circles of Peacemaking at Community Level – merged with Friday's Ho'opono session	David Stanfield
THURSDAY	Good Practice Transmission Through Simulation (scenarios & computer sims)	Lan Bui-Wrzosinska
	Design for Human Security & Adaptive Capacity	Alexa Courtney Orit Gal
	Simplified Mapping for Non Academics	Heidi & Guy Burgess
	Latent Attractors – Time & Space	Jay Michaels
	Narrative Resonance: Power of Why #2	Jay Rothman
FRIDAY	Mapping + shared knowledge creation + support strategy planning + negotiations	Stephen Gray
	Juxtaposition Metaphor, Questions	Danny Burns
	Cumulative Impacts of Pb – Use of Factor Trees As A Tool	Peter Woodrow
	Peacebuilding Taxonomy Ontology Knowledge System	Thom Feroah
	Signs Of The Wave: Building a systems complexity movement	Robert Ricigliano
	Ho'opono – an indigenous peace making practice	Poka Laenvi and David Stanfield